

Contents

Foreword

His Holiness the Dalai Lama ix

Introduction: Toward a Caring Economics

Tania Singer, Matthieu Ricard, and Diego Hangartner 1

PART I: Scientific Research on Altruism and Pro-Social Behavior	13
1. The Egoism-Altruism Debate: A Psychological Perspective Daniel Batson	15
2. Empathy and the Interoceptive Cortex Tania Singer	27
3. The Neural Bases of Compassion Richard Davidson	45
4. A Buddhist Perspective on Altruism Matthieu Ricard	57
5. Biological Imperatives for Survival: Altruism Reconsidered Joan Silk	63

Contents

PART II: Economic Research on Altruism and Pro-Social Behavior	75
6. The Social Dilemma Experiment Ernst Fehr	77
7. First Thoughts Toward a Buddhist Economics John Dunne	85
8. The Economics of Happiness Richard Layard	97
9. Why People Give to Charity William Harbaugh	115
10. Altruistic Punishment and the Creation of Public Goods Ernst Fehr	125
PART III: Introducing Pro-Sociality into Economic Systems	135
11. Profit with a Purpose Antoinette Hunziker-Ebnetter	137
12. What Can Microfinance Do? Arthur Vayloyan	147
13. The Barefoot College Sanjit "Bunker" Roy	159
14. Compassionate Leadership William George	175
Conclusion: Compassion Is Not a Luxury Moderator: Joan Halifax	185